After more than two and a half years of working together, the OpenSpaceAlps project partners invite to the final conference. At the event, the central outcomes of the project will be presented to professionals, policymakers, scientists and interested citizens engaged with spatial planning issues in alpine areas. The AlpPlan network, one of the major project achievements, will be promoted as well. Below please find the programme of the event.

It would be a pleasure to host you at the conference and greet you in Bolzano!
